

Episode2-01

秋色のモントリオール到着

物語本文

Ken opened the car door and stepped outside.

The wind felt cold, but the sunshine was bright and warm.

He looked around him, taking in the view.

The trees along the quiet street were red and yellow with the colors of fall.

Up ahead, he saw a beautiful church. Behind him, there was a large park. Many children were playing there.

Ken's father had parked the car in front of a brown brick apartment building.

It was four stories tall, with a green lawn in front.

"Welcome to our new home," his father said.

They had arrived in Montreal, and Ken liked it already.
